PIGMY VS. GIANT IN BATTLE FOR "HEAVY" TITLE

If Little Tommy Burns and Big Jack Johnson Fight on the Level the Contest Will Be a Great One.

The big Zulu is a magnificent physical specimen. Few better built big men have ever put on a boxing gibve. He stands six feet two and weight the teeth of the esteemed men have ever put on a boxing giove. He stands at feet two and wrights well over two hundred pounds. He reminds one of the ancient bronze statues of the Greek boxers. He is long of limb, huge of shoulder and clean cut. "Inder his skin the bronze muscles stand out in sharp relief.

HYSICALLY Johnson is far more HYSICALLY Johnson is far more as a business proposition—or a "comthan a match for Burns. And he is a remarkably clever boxer. His taking good care of his face and letting the other man do the work. It's almost impossible to reach him. He doesn't take any chances. He has faked a lot of fights. Perhaps that was because he couldn't get the matches without promising to be good."

Tommy Burns has faked a fight or two as well as Johnson. But neither Johnson nor Burns has ever "laid dewn." When there has been anything "fixed" it has been fixed for Johnson or Burns to win or draw without putting the other fellow in the hospital.

To make a long reach. His arms are just as thick. He is broad shouldered. And he is tough and enduring as any heavy-weight in the game. He can take a world of punching without losing a grain of his courage. This will surely be a longer fight than the affair between Burns and Equires, or the short one between Johnson and crippled Bob Fitzsimmons.
